Hello there,

Well, Im just one of thousands who you probably have already heard from in reference to the dredging project. All I can say is strap on a tank and just look at the different undersea life down there that you will ruin. Anyone can voice their oppinion, but Im asking you to listen to the divers, even if you are not a water person-just once, go down under and see its beauty for yourself, unstress yourself the best known way possible. I thank you for taking the 2 minutes to read my email. I have been diving since 1986.
